

Indiana's telephone privacy act should not be superseded by any FCC rulings. I was on maternity leave from work prior to the act with one child and after the act with another. My first leave I must have received at least 5 calls a day. I would have to take the phone off the hook in order for myself and my baby to get any rest. My second leave I may have received a couple of calls a week. We also work some shift work and not being able to sleep in your home undisturbed by unwanted phone calls is just not acceptable. It has been so nice to sit down to dinner every night and not have the phone ring!!!!!! I cannot believe what a difference it has made.
